Athens, November 5, 2008

I would like to convey my warmest congratulations on your landmark election victory and my best wishes for addressing the challenges over the next four years.

Your election comes at a critical time. The global economy faces a serious downturn. International challenges need to be urgently addressed. It is crucial that Europe, the United States and other partners confront these challenges together.

Greek-Americans have made and continue making an important contribution to the United States. I appreciate the clear and firm positions that you have adopted on issues of Greek concern. We will be looking forward to working closely with your administration, in solving these issues and in developing and enhancing our relations, in all fields, during your term in office.

I look forward to meeting you in the near future, and once again I wish you every success in the years ahead.

Kostas Karamanlis

Senator Barack Obama
President-elect of the United States of America
